

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP IN THE NATIONAL POSTDOCTORAL PROGRAM
(PNPD/CAPES)
POSTGRADUATE PROGRAM IN PHILOSOPHY

The Graduate Program in Philosophy at the University of São Paulo is selecting one (01) researcher to work under the National Postdoctoral Program (PNPD-CAPES).

AIMS OF THE PNPD

The aims of the National Postdoctoral Program (PNPD) are:

- I. To promote the achievement of high level studies;
- II. To reinforce national research groups;
- III. To renew the numbers of high-level workers in Graduate Programs in teaching and research institutions;
- IV. To promote the introduction of Brazilian and foreign researchers into national postdoctoral programs, stimulating their integration with research projects in graduate programs in Brazil.

1. REQUIREMENTS FOR THE FELLOWSHIP CANDIDATES

The candidate is expected to present an academic profile compatible with one of the following lines of research:

- History of Philosophy - History and analysis of philosophical systems. Study of different topics within the philosophical doctrines, as well as aspects of their internal logic and constitution. Approach to authors and systems within their cultural and historical context. Comparative study of philosophical systems and reconstruction of their guiding principles, focusing on the great names and founders of different traditions, following the chronological articulations that divide the History of Philosophy into its main periods: Ancient, Medieval, Modern, and Contemporary.
- Logic, Philosophy of Language, and Philosophy of Science - Logical investigation of formal systems, their foundations and historical development. Analysis of formal and natural languages, and their use in the study of philosophical questions. Research in the nature and dynamics of scientific knowledge, in its epistemological and historiographical aspects. Examination of the perspectives and impact of science on society, its technological applicability, and its institutional organization.
- Aesthetics and Philosophy of Art - Study of the different positions attributed to Beauty by Philosophy, and of the specific problems posed by the History of Art. Exposition and commentary of classical theories of the work of art, with the aim of promoting a reassessment of their fundamental concepts. Theoretical approach and consideration of the artistic phenomenon, with a view on the ontology of the work of art. Historical and critical consideration of modern and contemporary art.
- Ethics, Political Philosophy, and Theory of Human Sciences - Research in this area covers critical aspects of the human sciences, and of political and ideological discourse throughout the history of philosophy. It also attempts to cover the relations between theory and philosophy of history, the conceptions of power, and the great problems of political and moral philosophy, from Antiquity to contemporary times.

2. ON THE FELLOWSHIP

The fellowship consists in monthly payments of R$ 4.100,00 (in reais, the Brazilian currency) directly to the scholar.

There is one type of fellowship, according to Table 1, below.

TYPE

The type of the PNPd/CAPES fellowship is detailed in the program's ordinance (see item 9), and summarized below. No PNPd/CAPES fellow may have any parallel professional activity during the time of the fellowship, under the penalty of having to return to CAPES the amount received, plus a fine and interest. The following summary table describes the main features of each modality, but the candidate is advised to read the aforementioned Postdoctoral Program's ordinance.

Type of fellowship	To whom it is directed	Accepts parallel professional activities?	Maximum length of fellowship
A	Brazilian citizens or foreign residents in Brazil who have a temporary visa.	No, the fellow cannot be hired or have parallel professional activities of any nature, during the fellowship.	Up to 60 months.

3. ON THE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE FELLOWSHIP CANDIDATES

Candidates for the selection process should fulfill the following requirements stipulated by CAPES and by the Postdoctoral Program:

- g) Provide an updated curriculum vitae to the CNPq's Lattes Platform or, if foreign, a curriculum with a history of patent registration and/or publication of scientific and technological impact papers and/or academic merit awards;
- h) Have a doctorate in Philosophy. Proof of completion of Ph.D. may be submitted when beginning the fellowship. For doctorates obtained in Brazil, the title must have been obtained in courses accredited by CAPES and CNE/MEC. For doctorates obtained outside the country, the diploma must be analyzed and approved by the Graduate Program, according to the ordinance Portaria CAPES N° 086 of July 3, 2013.

4. ON THE ACTIVITIES OF THE FELLOW

- a) Do the research activities described in the project approved by Capes;
- b) Serve as co-advisor of a student, at the level of a Doctorate, Master's or undergraduate (Iniciação Científica), at the suggestion of the Graduate or Undergraduate Programs;

- c) Give undergraduate seminars in the Iniciação Científica Program, when invited to do so by the Graduate Program;
- d) Give a graduate level conference, when invited by the Graduate Program, concerning one's research project and results;
- e) Submit the research project (or modifications of it) to other relevant bodies of the University of São Paulo;
- f) Commit oneself to submitting research papers to good periodicals, or any other medium of communication approved by the program, acknowledging in the publication the support of CAPES and of the Graduate Program in Philosophy.
- g) Assist in the development of teaching material (handouts, films, etc.);
- h) Participate in examination committees of theses.

5. ON THE REGISTRATION

Candidates should register at the following address: <http://filosofia.fflch.usp.br/posdoc/pnpd> , from November 10 to 20, 2016.

The candidate is required to fill out the fields referring to his/her full name (without abbreviations), address, including postal code (CEP, ZIP, etc.), and also his/her identification number (RG and CPF for Brazilians, passport number for foreigners) and e-mail, besides the other fields in the Registration Form. One must also attach the following documents (in PDF):

- Updated curriculum vitae.
- Research project.
- Undergraduate diploma and transcript.
- Master's thesis diploma and transcript (if done).
- Ph.D. diploma and transcript.

The information in the LATTES vitae does not have to be accompanied by proof, but if some documental proof is asked for by the selection committee, the candidate must provide it through the e-mail informed in registration. The failure to submit proof may be sufficient grounds for eliminating the candidate from the selection process.

The Graduate Program in Philosophy cannot be held responsible in case the documentation is not received by internet, due to technical problems in computers, lapses of communication, network congestion, or any other technical problem that might impair data transfer.

The candidate is entirely responsible for all the information given in the registration process.
